

SUNEDISON NAMES CARLOS DOMENECH
CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Former NBC and GE (NYSE: GE) Executive to Help Guide SunEdison's Strategic Growth

BELTSVILLE, MD – September 12, 2007 – SunEdison, North America's largest solar energy services provider, today announced that Carlos Domenech, 37, has been named Chief Financial Officer for the company. Based in Beltsville, Domenech will oversee all financial, human resources and information functions for the company and will report directly to CEO Thomas (Tom) Rainwater.

Domenech previously served as CFO at Universal Pictures' International Entertainment, where he led its integration with NBC. He managed financial reporting across 25 countries and played an essential role in the growth of the company. Domenech spent 14 years with GE, where he served in a variety of global executive roles, including CFO of GE Healthcare's EMEA Service.

SunEdison's current CFO and board member, Brian Robertson, will assume the role of President, overseeing business development, acquisitions and corporate development activities.

"I am pleased to add Carlos' expertise to the SunEdison team," said SunEdison CEO Tom Rainwater. "Carlos has significant experience as a CFO with major companies and has the financial discipline to support SunEdison. Given that SunEdison provides solar energy services to some of the largest commercial, government and utility customers in North America, the chief financial officer is a key position. Carlos' diverse industry experience with multinational enterprises and expertise in supply chain will maximize the ability of SunEdison and our clients to benefit from the savings created by solar energy."

"I am excited to be working with the SunEdison management team," noted Domenech. "SunEdison is the industry's downstream leader in solar energy services and has managed to achieve this at a scale not previously thought possible. It is the right company in the right industry at the right time."

Domenech has a B. S. in Business Administration from Virginia Commonwealth University and an MBA from Northwestern University, Kellogg School of Management. He is a graduate of GE's Financial Management Program and Corporate Audit Staff.
